“ I had the honor of meeting this wonderful lady when she was still living in Wyoming and I was visiting with Donna. We stayed at her home and she was a very classy host, knowing exactly what to do to make us comfortable. It was the first time I'd ever seen a wall oven and to this day think of her whenever I see one on tv or in a home. I will never forget the first morning we woke up and walked into the kitchen. Lovely tablecloth, a vase of flowers, and she had obviously brought out the nicer than everyday tableware. The cream for the coffee was in its own little pitcher too, somehow I remember that. Orange juice in a clear glass pitcher, coffee fresh brewed, pancakes, sausage, bacon, eggs, toast: our eyes were bugging. How did she manage to put all that together and still have it be hot? It was a feast you know, and without her saying one word she taught me how to be a gracious hostess and how to set a proper table and greet your guests. I will be forever grateful. Deepest condolences to the family for your loss.
