

JoAnn Hathaway

December 29, 1947 - January 15, 2025

JoAnn (Cormier) Hathaway, 77, passed away privately and quietly in her home, just as she lived her life on January 15, 2025. Born on December 29, 1947, JoAnn was born the youngest of eight children to William and Anna Cormier. She is survived by her last remaining sibling, Sandra Shafer. Her greatest joys were time spent visiting and talking with her children and grandchildren while sharing these moments in their lives, always with a cup of tea. JoAnn was a remarkable woman. She was small in stature but large in personality. She was a strong independent woman who always spoke her mind, with expectations for her family to do the same. She respected honesty and directness, was never one to sugarcoat a message or its delivery, and expected the same in return. She loved her family and her husband Donald (predeceased) with her entire heart and soul. On the 20th, they will spend their 57th wedding anniversary together again. JoAnn leaves behind her two loving daughters and their spouses, Ginger Coleman, her husband, Scott, and Nadean Eaddy, and her husband Terry.

JoAnn took great pride in her three granddaughters. They were her source of strength and happiness as she watched them grow and develop into three strong and independent women, now with and starting families of their own. They are: Jade Roy (and Jeff Boissonnault), Tia Gregorio (Irving), her spouse John, and Andrea Coleman. JoAnn became further blessed with her three great-grandsons. Jordan Bailey, her "Prince", she held his heart in her hands, and he filled her life with pride and the greatest love with the special relationship they shared. She also leaves Chase Boissonnault and Ethan Remillard, her youngests along with countless nieces and nephews whom she loved dearly.

JoAnn's favorite song by Frank Sinatra stated it best, "I did it my way", and for all who really knew her, she knows as you read this, you will be smiling, because she did.

In lieu of flowers, any donations may be made to St.Jude. All services will be private and for immediate family only.

Tribute Wall

“ Rest well Auntie JoAnn! We will certainly miss you here but are so happy you are with Uncle Don! Give everyone big hugs for us! ”

---

Jill Gagne - January 16, 2025 at 03:54 PM