“ Stephen is also survived by the three family that he chose, Becky Scungio and her son Tyler, whom he lovingly raised as his own. He was a wonderful man who had many great qualities that most people never got to see because he was shy and private but to those who did you were blessed. My son and I were blessed. Blessed to have had him for 9 years and have more memories than you could count. A spouse of you that no one clearly knows but will live on through the child you taught and guided and bonded with. You will always be with us and will will always have you and the things you gave us. You won't just be remembered, you will live on through us and no matter where you are I know you'll be with me and I will never stop loving you kochanie. Babe ❤️
